DEBTS

Paid by Judge G. M. Anderson.

How Additional Police Were Chosen.

Commissioners Did Not Even Know Them.

The Czar Dictated All Twelve Appointments.

Mighty interesting reading at this time is the record of the appointment of 12 policemen as "a New Year's present for Akron." It was not that the city needed such a present, but because Judge G. M. Anderson had political debts to pay that these appointments were made and another weight added to the burden of the taxpayers.

The Democrat is informed that the members of the Board did not at any time prior to the appointment confer in regard to selecting the best men. There were nearly 200 applications for appointment, but not a moment's time was consumed by the Board in considering their fitness for the positions to be filled.

On the forenoon of Monday, the day of appointment, both City Commissioners, McMillen and Crisp, held a lengthy conference with Judge Anderson at the Court House. The Czar submitted to these gentlemen a list of men who should receive the appointments.

In the afternoon, the two Republican Commissioners met in secret consultation in the City Solicitor's office to compare their lists and understood each other.

Each of the Republican Commissioners desired, for personal reasons, to appoint a couple of men of their own choosing, rather than the Czar's and therefore their secret caucus was rather lengthy. They halted between a desire to fulfill their own promises and the promises of their dictator. Duty, however, compelled them to obey and they agreed to appoint the Czar's.

To show that the members of the Board had nothing to do with the selection of the new police and that they were chosen by Judge Anderson to fulfill political promises, is demonstrated by the following facts:

IN THE FIRST PLACE THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD WERE NOT EVEN ACQUAINTED AND HAD NEVER MET SEVERAL OF THE MEN WHO WERE APPOINTED TO FILL THE POSITIONS.

Again, two men received appointment who have not resided in Akron for a period of four consecutive years; as required by the police regulations; in fact, they have resided in the city less than one year.

Rule 32, of the Rules and Regulations for the Akron Police department, says:

"Applications for the police force shall be at least five feet, seven inches in height; not under 25 years of age; AND SHALL HAVE BEEN A RESIDENT OF THE CITY OF AKRON DURING THE FOUR CONSECUTIVE YEARS LAST PAST."

Two of the men appointed were characters who have figured in saloon brawls, shooting and cutting scrapes in the years past.

One of the appointees was over 50 years of age, and his appointment was a violation of the age limit heretofore applied by the Board in selecting men for the police force.

Another of the appointees was under age, and his name was not even known by the members of the Board. In the list submitted to the two Republican Commissioners by Czar Anderson, as the persons to be appointed appeared the name of Michael Galloway. The city officials in copying off the Czar's list wrote the name, Michael Galloway. No man of that name lives in Akron. But the Commissioners, anxious to

LONG AGO

Council Pleaded For Economy.

The Situation Has Not Changed.

Many Abuses Have Long Continued.

Will the People Do Away With Them?

The record of the City Council in opposing the extravagance of the City Commissioners might be shown in many ways. It has long been familiar to those who attend Council meetings and those who have read the reports of the Council's proceedings.

The following extract from the proceedings of a meeting held more than a year ago shows what the Council's position was at that time, and also shows in part how Councilmen have been attacked and abused for opposing the Board:

Mr. Paul said: "If the Commissioners neglected their duty it is no excuse for us to neglect our obligations. The Council has repeatedly and almost continuously fought against this extravagance, but political influences and deadlocks have made it impossible to accomplish anything. The Board of Commissioners has appeared to Council of late years to be organized and controlled more in the interests of politicians and the privileged interests than for the benefit of the people who pay the taxes. These abuses will continue until the people determine to do away with them."

Mr. Fieheger said: "I heartily second Mr. Paul's remarks. Council hasn't power to spend a dollar for anything. I have been censured by a newspaper, after calling for a statement of expenses of the fire department, for not knowing what those expenses were without the asking. But I want to say as chairman of the fire committee I wasn't consulted in any matter by the Commissioners regarding expenditures for the fire department."

AKRON

Will be Reached Some Day Say Promoters.

A number of Cleveland capitalists are planning to build an electric line from York st., in South Brooklyn, south through Hinckley cliffs, Parma, Royalton and Strongsville townships, says the Cleveland Leader. The line will be eighteen miles in length and will carry passengers and freight. It is proposed to incorporate a company to be known as the Southern Electric Railway Co. It will be capitalized at $500,000, and $150,000 will be expended in the equipment of the road. The power house of the road will be located at Hinckley cliffs. Later the road, which will be a single track, may be extended to Akron. The road will follow what is known as the Rocky river valley.

It will be seven miles apart from any other street railway or railroad running in the same direction.

Shops are already being taken to obtain the necessary right of way.

Among those interested in the venture is a wealthy pork packer.

DAUGHTER

Of an Akron Man Is Winning Fame.

A large portrait of Miss Marguerite Stillwell, daughter of Mr. W. S. Stillwell, of the S. & O. Engraving Co., of Akron, appears on the first page of The Concert Goer of last week. Miss Stillwell's home was originally in Utica. She made her debut in New York last season, but has never visited Akron. The Concert Goer speaks of her as a most talented pianist.

Reports show a greatly increased death rate from throat and lung troubles, due to the prevalence of croup, pneumonia and grip. We advise the use of One Minute Cure in all of these difficulties. It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. Children like it.
